

Each chromosome is one native query-coordinate row; row length is proportional to actual query chromosome length. Colored ticks/blocks mark retained interchromosomal target support.

